Carlin's commitment to concerns of individual voters is admirable

To the Editor:

Feeling like you've been listened to by a legislative representative is important for any citizen. This past year, I had the opportunity to talk with Rep. Sydney Carlin regarding document fees required from the state for Kansas adoptions. Rep. Carlin was responsive and produced a compromise with the Secretary of State's office that benefits Kansas families who are adopting. She did what we all hope our legislative representatives do — listen and act.

I admire her for her commitment to the community she has been a part of for 34 years. She knows her constituents and their concerns. She attends events that are important to Manhattan residents. She listens, she understands. She knows how to get things done. This is why I will support her re-election on Nov. 7.
